COLONEL FREDET'S OFFICE.

More Testimony as to the Alleged Mismanagement.

After the recess yesterday afternoon of the committee which is investigating the office of the Supervising Architect, the examination of Mr. Avery was continued. His strictures on Colonel Fredet were very severe. He said he had the best of reasons for believing that the examination for appointment was intentionally made so difficult that no one could answer them satisfactorily, and even if any one did, it would be in favor of passing him. His testimony was for the most part gossip heard about the office and nothing of importance was told.

Charles Kinkel, who has been charged by several of the witnesses with collecting campaign funds in the office, was next put on the stand. He said that he was told by the chief clerk before he was examined for promotion that it was only a form. He admitted that he had collected $100 for the Democratic campaign fund. Clarence C. Graham said that his brother had been paid $10 in certain cases for the use of his name. C. E. Young gave some important testimony, and the meeting was adjourned, subject to the call of the chairman.

THE NEW JUSTICE.

Current Gossip as to Candidates for the Position.

Mr. A. S. Worthington, president of the Bar Association, was asked to-day whether there was any possibility that the Bar Association would fix on a candidate for the vacancy on the District Bench. He replied in the negative, saying it was an unwritten law of the association to take no action with reference to appointments to offices.

There is no objection expressed among the bar to Assistant Postmaster Stevenson, whose name has been presented to the President. It is natural, however, that a District man would be preferred.

Assistant Postmaster Leo A. Knott is also talked of in this connection, and he is spoken of as being well-fitted for the position by his familiarity with Bureau law.

There is, however, no necessity for going out of the District. There is any quantity of first-class judicial timber in it, and an appointment from this bar would avoid the many difficulties that would spring from an unfamiliarity with District law.

Funeral of B. H. Webster.

The funeral of B. H. Webster, late Chief Ruler of the Rechabites, took place yesterday afternoon and was largely attended by the members of the lodge and friends of the deceased. The funeral was conducted by the grand lodge and the Rechabites ritual was observed at the grave in Congressional Cemetery. All of the tribes in Washington and the surrounding towns were represented. There were a number of handsome floral tributes.

The Colored Press Association.

A committee of colored journalists met yesterday to arrange for the convention of the National Colored Press Association, to be held here next month. The Boston Literary Society will tender the colored journalists a collection, and John M. Langston will deliver the address of welcome.

Rose Coghlan in "Joceelyn."

Washingtonians are promised a strong play at the National next week. It pictures one of the most intense and exciting times in French history, and being French it allows for that brilliancy and picturesque that abounds in all French plays, and especially those depicting the cruel days of her early history.

Marriage Licenses.

Henry Harrod and Jane Upton; Oliver Fenner and Catherine Deak; Richard Stuart and Annie Hayson; John J. Cherry and E. R. Bright; Benjamin Dameron and Mary Doyle; Stafford County, Va.; William Dodson and Phoebe Ann Jacobs, Fairfax County, Va.

Another Indignation Meeting.

The colored citizens held another meeting at Ebenezer Church, on O street, last night to protest against the transfer of the colored children from the Wornley School building, but the meeting was adjourned until a larger number could be present.

Justice Merrick's Successor.

First Assistant Postmaster General Stevenson, Colonel James G. Payne, A. G. Worthington, Judge Hoge, J. J. Johnson and Judge Jesse Wilson are being urged for Justice Merrick's successor.

Whitcomb Wanted at Boston.

A warrant has been received at Police Headquarters from the Boston authorities for Walter Whitcomb, alias W. G. Mason. He is wanted there for forging the name of Joseph Dugan to a bill of exchange. Before he is delivered to them, however, he will have to answer the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses which hangs over him in this city. The case will be tried on Monday.

The Policeman was Justified.

Jim Mason admitted in the Police Court this morning that Policeman Daley was justified in characterizing him as suspicious. When the clabby arrest him last night Jim was making off with an overcoat he had just "lifted" from the hat-rack in Mr. Evans' house, at 1330 Ninth street. He was sent to the work for two months.
